The Product

- Frustrated by processing orders manually?
- Lost orders?
- Frustrated clients?
- Out of the shop and feeling out of touch?
- Need an efficient, reliable and secure way of processing orders electronically?

We have the solution!

Designed to meet the specific demands of companies processing orders outside of their normal work environment.

How It Works

Big Inja barcode all your products.

Each sales representative receives a scanner loaded with your stock list

The buyer's badge is scanned, and then all desired products are scanned and qty's entered

The scanner is placed in the cradle and two copies of the order are automatically printed

The buyer signs one copy of the order for you and retains one copy

Order and stock information is summarised, backed up and emailed to you daily

You process the order electronically and the buyer receives the correct products, in the correct qty's, quicker than ever before
